Governor Makes Two Speeches, to Big Growds of Friends and Neighbors.

We have gone into believe that something could be accomplished. I had no merit as a mandidate for Governor except that I said what I really thought, and the compliment you had found a man, whom you could trust to attempt and accomplish something. We unless you had believed in him, unless you had found a man, whom you could trust to attempt and accomplish something. The force of your public men, my friends and neighbors, lies in your minds, not in their gifts. In proportion as you back them up, it is proporti

Beginning with an address that aroused before. By the lawn of the little was not their personal force, it was your moral force that accomplished these things. And what was it that you accomplished—mere justice to classes that had not been treated justly before.

Beginning with an address that aroused the enthusiasm of about 3,000 supporters from all sections of the State, he joined in helping Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, Mrs. Wilson, the Misses Wilson, Mrs. Archibald Alexander, Mrs. John Sherwin (rosby and Mrs. Steven B. Ayres to get I have never known ignorance so complete in its detail and the president of the Next and the circumstances of the times. I have never known ignorance so complete in its detail and the president of the Next and the president of the Public Service Corporation of New Jersey. I have heard speeches from that gentleman that exhibited universal lack of acquaintance with the circumstances of the times. I have never known ignorance so complete the New Jersey branch of the National Nomen's Wilson and Marshall Club to be going good.

He made a speedh which about 1,000 somen seemed to like, even if the Government of the Government

"Because I have seen that power demonstrated," he said, "I have seen it live in action. I have seen things happen in New Jersey, the gleam of which has widened across the whole continent and men have said the State that they had charged with mothering all the trusts has now displanted the power by which the trusts may be curbed and governed. Perhaps, we, as a mother, understand our programme. We could almost have irrigated our fields by the water they put in their stock."

If he feels that such an amendment will beadonted he may veto the bill and send it back with the suggestion that it berturned to him with this modification. There is a possibility too that the President may seek to have the subject matter of the amendment proposed by him put in the form of a concurrent resolution and passed by the House and Senate without necessitating the return of the Panama measure, however, it will ander declared the women of

Although the men started it the women took entire charge of their own part of the programme for "horce folks" day at Sea Girt to-day. They ran their own tent, in which they enrolled members of the Wilson and Marshall Club of New dersey, they held their own meeting, had their own speakers, developed their own meeting, had their own speakers, developed their own meeting, had their own speakers, developed their own of the bill. While there are some features of the Wilson and Marshall Club of New dersey, they held their own meeting, had their own speakers, developed their own onthusiasm and wound up with having Gov. Wison give them a talk for them the bill against the railroads that do not appeal to the President, he is in favor of the policy of prohibiting railroad owned vessels passing through the canal when the railroads and the vessels are competing.

Mrs. Harriman said it was an extraordinary occasion when the big political parties welcomed the influence of women and parties welcomed the influence of women who are in so many part of that life, begin to take the feel of us from the standard when the standard women, who are in so many part of that life, begin to take the feel of us from the standard women, who are in so many part of that life, begin to take the feel of us from the standard women, who are in so many part of that life, begin to take the feel of us from the standard women, who are in so many part of the president does decide to veto the parties of the President does decide to veto the stored to the pandard measure, however, it will be on the ground of this free toll provision and not on the ground of the prize on the property of the bill. It was reasonable to get the offices that belong to us and so we adopted a law into the control of the president called Senator Simmons of North Carolina, who has been handling the Lanama bill in the Senate for the Democrats, to the White House to-day and asked for his support of a plan which the President believes will relieve the United States of the embarrassment that may arise through the free tolls section in the bill.

The President called Senator Simmons of North Carolina, who has been handling the Lanama bill in the Senate for the Democrats, to the White House to-day and asked for his support of a plan which that if you bought an office you didn't get it.
